Safe Sanctuaries Policy
Updated: April 2017

Introduction

The General Conference of the United Methodist Church, in April 1996, adopted a resolution aimed at reducing the risk of child abuse in the church. The adopted resolution calls all churches to welcome the children and also to make our churches safe places for children to grow and learn. It is our responsibility to be proactive in our recruiting and training to find people with a gift for caring for children and also to protect those volunteers and paid staff from false accusations. It is also our responsibility to oversee all programs involving children to make sure there is a safe environment and to have a plan of response in place should an accusation arise. The General Conference resolution affirmed that every local church shall have in place a policy for protecting children.

Purpose

Senoia United Methodist Church's purpose for establishing this Child Abuse Prevention Policy and accompanying procedures is to demonstrate our absolute and unwavering commitment to the physical and mental safety and spiritual growth of all our children and youth.

Statement of Covenant

As a Christian community of faith committed to ministry to and with children, we pledge to conduct all our activities and ministries in such a way that assures the safety and spiritual growth of all children and youth entrusted to us. We will follow reasonable safety measures in the selection and recruitment of workers. We will be responsible in overseeing our programs and events and in training our staff so that they are able and equipped to minister to children in Jesus' name. We will report and respond to all suspected incidents of abuse including physical, emotional, neglect, sexual, and ritual abuse, as is required by state law and our moral conscience, and we will be prepared to minister to the families of both the abused and the perpetrator. (See Appendix A for detailed definitions and indicators of abuse).

VII. Procedures for Reporting Alleged Abuse

 - i. All staff and volunteers serving with nursery, children, and youth at Senoia UMC are considered to be mandated reporters. A mandated reporter who has reasonable cause to believe a child has been abused must report the situation to the proper authority immediately (no later than 24 hours following the time the abuse is suspected) and is subject to criminal penalty upon failing to do so.
 1. The mandated reporter should contact the pastor immediately. If the pastor is not immediately available, the mandated reporter should contact the Educational Chair. If the pastor is the accused party, notify the Chairperson of the Staff-Parish Relations Committee (SPRC) or the District Superintendent.
 2. The mandated reporter contacts DFCS (Department of Family and Child Services) to report the incident (Coweta County DFCS 770-254-7572 or 770-254-7570). If protective services are deemed necessary the Coweta County Sheriff's Office should be contacted immediately (Coweta County Sheriff's Office 770-253-1502).

Information obtained from Safe Sanctuaries: Reducing the Risk of Abuse in the Church for Children and Youth by Joy Thornburg Melton

Types of Child Abuse

Generally, child abuse is characterized in five primary forms: physical abuse, emotional abuse, neglect, sexual abuse, and ritual abuse.

I. Physical Abuse

Abuse in which a person deliberately and intentionally causes bodily harm to a child. Examples may include violent battery with a weapon (knife, belt, strap, and so forth), burning, shaking, kicking, choking, fracturing bones, and any of a wide variety of non-accidental injuries to a child's body.

II. Emotional Abuse

Abuse in which a person exposes a child to spoken and/or unspoken violence or emotional cruelty. Emotional abuse sends a message to the child of worthlessness, badness, and being not only unloved but undeserving of love and care. Children exposed to emotional abuse may have experienced being locked in a closet, being deprived of any sign of parental affection, being constantly told they are bad or stupid, or being allowed or forced to abuse alcohol or drugs. Emotional abuse is often very difficult to prove and is devastating to the victim.

III. Neglect

Abuse in which a person endangers a child's health, safety, or welfare through negligence. Neglect may include withholding food, clothing, medical care, education, and even affection and affirmation of the child's self-worth. This is perhaps the most common form of abuse.

IV. Sexual Abuse

Abuse in which sexual contact between a child and an adult (or another older and more powerful youth) occurs. The child is never truly capable of consenting to or resisting such contact and/or such sexual acts. Often, the child is physically and psychologically dependent upon the perpetrator of the abuse. Examples of sexual abuse may include fondling, intercourse, incest, and the exploitation of and exposure to child pornography or prostitution.

V. Ritual Abuse

Abuse in which physical, sexual, or psychological violations of a child are inflicted regularly, intentionally, and in a stylized way by a person or persons responsible for the child's welfare. The abuser may appeal to some higher authority or power to justify the abuse. The abuse may include cruel treatment of animals or repeated threats of harm to the child, other persons, and animals. Reports of ritual abuse are often extremely horrifying and may seem to grim to be true. Children making such reports must not be ignored.

Indicators of Child Abuse

Children suffering abuse often will not tell anyone about it. Therefore, it is important to be able to recognize other signs of abuse. The following characteristics may be indicators of abuse, although they are not necessarily proof. Individually, any one of the indicators may be signs or a number of other more or less serious problems.
